San Pietro in Bevagna: il fiume Chidro

One of the most beautiful attractions that are on site and that you cannot miss if you are on a holiday in Salento is the Chidro river in San Pietro in Bevagna .

This stream, together with the Borraco river , flows into the Mandurian Ionian Sea and both represent two of the rare watercourses that cross Puglia.

The Chidro River, near San Pietro , is the second most river in Salento , after the Ostone river that flows in the Lizzano area , in the province of Lecce.

Specifically in San Pietro in Bevagna the sea and the river come together in a dance of a thousand shades and transparencies, in which it is possible to immerse yourself freely.

Regenerating yourself in the waters of the Chidro river in San Pietro in Bevagna Ta is almost a mystical experience.

Yes, because this is a place with a high emotional and sensorial impact. In addition to the different temperatures of the water, a few meters away from the mouth of the river , in the shallow depths there are important archaeological finds: the ancient Vasche del Re. S. Pietro in Bevagna is not only crystal clear sea but also a lot of history.

But what does the history of this place tell us?

The legend has it that St. Peter the Apostle , shipwrecked in this strip of land, crossed this stream in tears, guilty of having betrayed Jesus . His tears would then have turned into shells, then kept by the locals as holy relics.

Another legend tells that, in these waters, the apostle would have performed the first baptisms of the pagans.
